Your passion for crafts could be your ticket to extra cash!

What is your favorite craft or hobby?

- cross stitch
- knitting
- scrapbooking
- crochet
- painting
- quilting
- woodworking

- or any craft!

Have you ever tried a new craft project and shared your results (good or bad) with a friend?

Have you ever discovered a new tool or supply for your favorite hobby that you just had to tell your friends about?

If you love crafts and sharing your discoveries with friends and family, then you have the skills necessary to profit from your own blog about your passion for your favorite craft.

“How To Start A Craft Blog For Fun and Profit” covers everything you need to know about starting your own income-generating Internet business blogging about a hobby or craft near and dear to your heart.

Even if you’ve never heard the word “blog” before, no sweat!

Through this Just Add Sweat multi-media package of audios, videos and a written e-guide, you’ll learn exactly what to do to successfully design and maintain your own blog to earn extra cash.

(And it’s ridiculously easy ... even for non-techies!)

The creators of the guides, JoAnne and Nicole, are successful business owners who were sick of the hype and poor-quality business advice out there so they decided to create these guides.

What's included:

- Ideas for types of craft blogs to start.
- Definition of a blog.
- How to set up and use your blog.
- How you can make money blogging.
- How to choose your market.
- What to blog about.
- How to get traffic to your blog and make money.

One thing that's great about this guide is the step by step instructions, audio and videos that guide you through setting up your first blog. As you're reading through you can have your first blog set up in a very short period of time by following what's been laid out for you. There are audio and video portions to go with these blog setup instructions too, so you learn by your preferred method.

One thing I feel it's missing is a bit more instruction on how to write great blog posts. I think some people who are new to internet businesses may not understand what people who come visit blogs are looking to read so I think this would be helpful.

In the appendix section there is a list that explains everything you need for setting up your business and blog, which is great for people just starting out.

There is real value in this product and for one great price you get a 35-page eGuide, a SweatStory Success interview, audio blog tips, bonus Time Management Guide and a 2007 Blogging Calendar.

I'm sure you know that craft information is high demand, and people just love to get as much information they can about crafts. By starting this type of blog you'll be starting a topic that is near and dear to many people.
